

CHAPTER 12

01. God, even if He has any remote intention of making His appearance when everything in this world is in utter confusion, it is right time now.

02. Believers in God can't explain certain things satisfactorily. There can only be dogmatic assertions. Similarly, disbelievers can also not explain certain things satisfactorily. That is the whole problem. Suspense from beginning to end. #god

03. While so many are in agony at any point of time, it is difficult to conceive compassion as an element in the composition of God. #God

04. Where do ideas come from. Not from the brain certainly. Or else we can place orders with the brain as with a waiter in a 5 star hotel. #ideas

05. God must be made of stubborn stuff. Otherwise He can't keep quiet for eons, while all his subjects are wondering, wherefrom they came, why, for how long and how they will exit. #God

06. If every human behaviour can be traced to occurrences in early childhood, or later, then nobody need be praised, or, can be punished, for anything done. #behaviour

07. All living beings must be made up of magnetic material perhaps. Or else why do like poles repel and unlike ones attract in all species as a rule- human or otherwise? #magnetism

08. Strange that we handle with perfect ease, electrical appliances that separate us from from deadly electricity, only by an inch or less.#electricity.

09. The pangs of loneliness, so often suffered by the elderly, cannot be adequately understood by the busy young, saddled with tight schedules and left with no time to rest or think.#loneliness

10. Sometimes ,wellwishers speaking unpalatable truth ,appear as doomsayers and are consequently shunned. Gogetters then become good company. This is the dark side of advice.#advice

11. A man's views on any subject are circumscribed by his upbringing, attitude, and current circumstances. This explains the scarcity of impartial judgement..#impartial

12. If the other person does not hear, he may be short of hearing. If he does not listen, that may be his lack of interest or positive aversion. If he does not understand, that is his IQ. If he does not appreciate, that is his outlook.#outlook ·

13. If you tell something which the other fellow knows already ,that is redundant.. If he does not know and does not want to hear ,that is unwarranted. If he does not know and will love to hear, then that is welcome. Fundamentals of pleasing behaviour.#pleasing

14. If you should like a person, you must have deep interest either in him, or in a person or subject, in which he is deeply interested.#interest

15. When you dont have any problem in life,a new problem crops up,called boredom.#boredom,./

16. Some tweets go viral in no time.Depends on timing. Depends also on the time of individuals involved. Can pave the way to a gallantry award or to gallows!#viral
